

COURTAULD

Changing programme is a significant decision. Brief information on considerations and the support available is set out below.

Depending on how your studies are funded, transferring programme can have implications for your entitlement to tuition fees and other financial support. Further advice is available from Student Academic Services by contacting ugadmissions@courtauld.ac.uk

If you hold a student visa, transferring can affect your sponsorship and immigration status. Further advice is available from Student Academic Services by contacting ugadmissions@courtauld.ac.uk

UCAS has some helpful information for undergraduates thinking of changing or leaving their course.

Transferring to The Courtauld from Another Institution

BA History of Art

If you have been studying elsewhere and wish to transfer and become a student of The Courtauld, please contact our admissions team in the first instance ugadmissions@courtauld.ac.uk. Details of entry requirements are available here. You may be able to transfer some credit which has been accumulated to the new programme. Details of possible exemptions are listed as per section 4.3 of the General Regulations All Degree Programmes.

Consideration of prior learning is time restricted and will only ever be accredited if it forms a coherent and current element of the programme and can only ever be applied to the first year of the undergraduate programme.

Transferring from The Courtauld to Another Institution

If you are considering transferring to another institution, it is important to get advice and understand the potential implications. You can seek advice from Student Academic Services, they will be able to talk you through the academic, financial and other implications of seeking to transfer and also advise if there are other possibilities that may be open to you. At the point of transfer, we will provide you with a transcript of your studies and on request can provide the programme details.